Do Say	Don't Say
Vaccination	Injection or shot
A safe and effective vaccine	A vaccine developed quickly
Authorized by FDA based on clinical testing	Approved by FDA; Operation Warp Speed; Emergency Use Authorization*
Get the latest information	There are things we still don't know
Keep your family safe; keep those most vulnerable safe	Keep your country safe
Public Health	Government
Health/medical experts and doctors	Scientists
People who have questions	People who are hesitant, skeptical, resistant, or "anti-vaxxers"

* The perceived speed of vaccine development is a current barrier among many audiences.
These recommendations are based partly on research conducted by the de Beaumont Foundation

Administering Additional Doses to Immunocompromised Patients

- Vaccines currently under EUA (Emergency Use Authorization)
- CDC and FDA exploring multiple options for how to make a third dose possible for immunocompromised patients, if needed.
- COVID-19 vaccine Providers should continue to administer vaccine in accordance with the current EUA provider agreement.

Delta variant more formidable than the original (wildtype) virus

- Delta spreads more than twice as easily than previous variants.
 - New data show that people infected with Delta have higher viral loads than with previous variants.
 - Fully vaccinated people infected with the Delta variant may be infectious.
 - High vaccination coverage will reduce spread of the virus and help prevent new variants from emerging.
 - As overall cases increase and proportion of population vaccinated increases, expect to see more breakthrough cases.
- COVID-19 vaccines continue to be effective
 - Most breakthrough infections are mild
 - COVID-19 vaccine prevents severe illness, hospitalizations, and death from Delta. Vaccines are working as expected.

Storage & Handling

Kate McHugh, CDPH

Temperature Monitoring – Which Probe and Buffer to Use?

- CDC Storage & Handling Toolkit recommends using "detachable probe that best reflects vaccine temperatures (e.g., a probe buffered with glycol, glass beads, sand, or Teflon®)"
 - If you are monitoring the temperature of normal frozen vaccine (-50°C to -15°C) or refrigerated vaccine (2°C to 8°C), use these probes with the above buffering material.
- Ultra-cold temperature monitoring has different requirements than normal frozen or refrigerated monitoring equipment.
 - For accurate ultra-cold temperature monitoring, it is essential to use an air-probe, or a probe designed specifically for ultra-cold temperatures with the DDL.

Managing Expired Vaccine

- Monitor expiration dates weekly and rotate stock to ensure vaccines soon to expire are used first. Use the “first in, first out” strategy to manage inventory.
- Check expiration dates of vaccine prior to removal from the storage unit, and again prior to administration, to avoid inadvertently administering expired vaccine.
- Remove expired vaccine from the storage unit IMMEDIATELY so staff do not inadvertently administer expired vaccine.
- According to CDC vaccine disposal guidance, dispose of the vaccine vial (with any remaining doses) and packaging in a pharmaceutical waste or sharps container according to local and state regulations. There is no return program for COVID-19 vaccines.
- If you had posted available doses in the Marketplace, and these have now expired, please make sure to close your post.
- Properly dispose of vaccine and report nonviable vaccine in myCAvax daily (or as needed) (See Reporting Doses Spoiled, Expired, or Wasted job aid.)

Pfizer Extension

- Pfizer may receive a shelf-life extension later in August.
- Continue to store Pfizer vaccine according to recommendations in the EUA in the meantime. CDPH will notify Providers when more is known.
