SUBJECT: Nominate your HPV Vaccine is Cancer Prevention Champion!
DATE: 7/24/2019

Dear EZIZ Users,

The HPV Vaccine is Cancer Prevention Champion Award is an annual award given jointly by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), American Cancer Society (ACS), and Association of American Cancer Institutes (AACI). This award recognizes leaders in healthcare who go above and beyond to foster HPV vaccination in their communities. Up to one Champion from each state will be recognized.

Nominees should meet these minimum criteria:

- Adolescent Health: The candidate must be a clinician, clinic, practice, group, or health system that treats adolescents as part of their overall population.
- Vaccination Rates: The candidate must reach target series completion rate of 60% for the patient population aged 13–15 years. The rate must account for both female and male patients. The two-dose vaccination schedule (two doses given at least five months apart in children ages 9–14 years) satisfies series completion, as does the original three-dose schedule.

For more details, including information on who is eligible, the nomination and selection process, etc. visit the CDC HPV Vaccination Award page.
