

UPDATE: Vaccine Shipment Delays

Dear VFC Providers,

Due to continued ongoing adverse winter conditions, all pending vaccine requests are still delayed and may not arrive this week. Orders continue to be held until weather conditions permit carriers to resume vaccine shipments.

If weather improves over the weekend, vaccine shipments will resume next week. Due to the backlog of orders unable to be packed and shipped this week, there may be a slight delay to the shipment of orders. However, we are still reviewing and approving vaccine orders, so please continue to send them to us and McKesson and Merck will fulfill those once weather conditions improve. We will communicate any additional updates as we hear them.

Please consider the impact of delayed deliveries to any planned vaccination efforts scheduled this week and next.

Thank you,
